

The New York Times

Activation Instructions for NYT Digital All Access

Once you have been verified, you will receive an access link for the NYT. You will have 24-hour access to New York Times All Access, including News, Games, Cooking, Wirecutter, The Athletic, and all New York Times apps.

1. You must have a current Burnham Library card*
2. Fill out THIS FORM to redeem your digital pass. Create a new NYT account or log in to a current NYT account if you've already registered.
3. If your information is entered correctly, you'll see a confirmation screen. You have now activated a digital pass and have access to The New York Times for 24 hours.
4. Once your digital pass expires, you can simply click the access link and log in again to redeem another digital pass.

 Not sure of your library card number? Contact us at 860.354.6937 or staff@burnhamlibrary.org. Need a new card? Click HERE!*

 If you lose the access link, resubmit this verification form, but always use the same account credentials you created for NYT.*

Need Help? Click here to view a short video on how to log into NYT